Educational Courses offered by ASA PP Committee

The ASA Personal Property Committee is pleased to be able to offer members and other personal property appraisers a large selection of educational courses.

Our education programs are presented in conjunction with five universities: Pratt University in New York, the Rhode Island School of Design (RISD) in Providence, RI, SUNY Purchase, and the University of Chicago (U of Chi). For more information on these courses, see the university websites and/or contact the university coordinators.

COURSE LISTING

These courses are offered to students that are going through the university programs as well as to members of ASA, and other members of the appraisal profession. The Principle of Valuation courses are presented by ASA accredited appraisers; those that focus on connoisseurship may be presented by experts that the universities include in their curriculum.
(All courses provide educational hours that can be used for reaccreditation.)
