ASA Name and Logo Use Policy

Individual ASA members and chapters may wish to use the ASA name and/or logo in either print or electronic materials. To assist with this process, ASA has developed a Name and Logo Use Policy, by which all members and chapters must abide. In addition to the Name and Logo Use Policy are the Branding Guidelines which detail the acceptable logos, colors available for use and their proper positioning. This document is meant as a guide to assist members and chapters with the use of ASA's name and/or logo. If you have any questions, please contact ASA's Marketing and Communications Department.

- Applicants may NOT use “Applicant Member”, “Member” or “Applicant” in any form on their résumé, business card or any other place where the public might view or hear this statement.

- Benefit partners may use the ASA logo.

Certificate of Completion Use

- Obtaining a Certificate of Completion is not a substitute for having achieved a professional appraisal designation. It is a certificate of completion of an educational curriculum, in contrast to the award of a distinct professional credential which would be based on the requisite certification process. Accordingly, this Certificate does not connote authority for an individual to hold themselves out to the public or a specific client as a qualified appraiser, without having first obtained the requisite education, experience and background to achieve a professional designation in the specific appraisal discipline required for the subject engagement.

- Students who successfully complete the advanced multidisciplinary healthcare valuation education program may use the term “Certification of Completion, American Society of Appraisers—Advanced Multidisciplinary Healthcare Valuation Education Program” on a qualifications sheet under the heading “Advanced Education” or “Continuing Professional Education”, but not under the heading “Designations”.

Logo Use Guidelines

- Members shall not abuse the privilege of the use of the name or logo of the Society or of his/her affiliation with the Society. The logo must clearly identify the individual Member and not a company, business entity or organization.

- Members shall not imply the Society is responsible for or the sponsor of any publication, policy or practice of a business or activity of the Member.

- The logo may be used in connection with any appraisal course, conference or seminar organized and/or authorized under the auspices of the Discipline Committees and/or the International Conference Steering Committee.

Misrepresentation

- Any inaccurate, misleading, false or deceptive representation in connection with any public notice, advertisement or description of appraisal services the Member offers to the public or to clients is in violation of Sections 7.7 and 7.8 of the ASA Principles of Appraisal Practice and Code of Ethics and is subject to disciplinary action.

Advertising Use

Example of Correct Way to Advertise Using the ASA Logo and Designation.

The following ad uses the ASA logo correctly: the logo is adjacent to the names of the two designated ASA members, as is the society name. Membership in ASA cannot be misconstrued. There is a distinct separation between the company name, descriptive statement, addresses, etc.

Example of Incorrect Way to Advertise Using the ASA Logo and Designation

In the ad below, the company appears to be a member of ASA, which is a violation of the ASA Bylaws and Administrative Rules.

- To correct the ad, the name of the ASA-designated employee could be added above the logo. After the employee’s name, it would be appropriate to add the designation: AM, ASA or FASA.
- In order to mention any specialty provided by ASA, the named individual(s) must be designated in that specialty. Individuals who wish to advertise areas of business specialization in which ASA does not offer accreditation may do so as long as they place the text so that it is clearly not associated in any way with the ASA logo or the individuals’ ASA designations.
- The names of the specialties in ASA Bylaws and Administrative Rules are to be strictly adhered to; no altering of the names is allowed.
- Each member is responsible for knowing the name of the specialty(ies) in which he or she is accredited. Only those members who are accredited in a specialty may advertise under that particular area of expertise.
