Version 1.25

ASA's Advancement Process

Is It True?

Yes. It is true. The ASA advancement process does take time. When ASA receives your completed accreditation file, it is sent out for peer-review to two (2) ARM reviewers serving on the ASA International Board of Examiners (BOE). These reviewers go through your entire accreditation package. The initial reviewer will complete an evaluation of your file within ten to fifteen (10-15) business days and return the packet to ASA Headquarters. The file is then sent to a second reviewer who also has ten to fifteen (10-15) business days to review and return your file. You will receive notifications during each stage of the accreditation process so you may track your progress.

How Do I Submit My Accreditation Application Package?

Once you have completed all the necessary requirements, you may submit your accreditation application online. You will receive an email notification from ASA Headquarters once your completed application has been received.

What Happens While My Report Is Out for Review?

While your report is being reviewed, the ARM credentialing specialist will verify all the information provided on your application and will contact you to discuss any questions or concerns regarding your experience, education, and ethical standing. The Board of Examiners (BOE) will review your application package in its entirety and if the BOE determines additional information is required, you will be notified. Requests for additional supporting documentation may include providing reference letters. Your references should be informed that they may be contacted for additional information. The references you select should be individuals you have currently or previously worked with in a business capacity.

When Will I Get Some News?

You will receive notifications from ASA Headquarters during each stage of the accreditation process. If both reviewers take their allotted ten to fifteen (10-15) business days to process your file, it could take two to four (2-4) weeks before you are notified of your final results. Your advancement to Accredited Member (AM) or Accredited Senior Appraiser (ASA) is complete once the International Board of Examiners (with the assistance of the ARM credentialing specialist) approves your full-time appraisal experience, educational background, and appraisal reports and determines you have successfully completed the education requirements of the ARM discipline. Once approved, you will be awarded your designation. Your certificate and pin will be sent shortly thereafter.

What if My File is Not Approved?

If some portion of your application/report fails to meet ASA guidelines, you will be provided comments on what needs to be resubmitted or repeated. If you do not agree with the decision reached by the BOE, you may forward a written appeal to the attention of the BOE Vice Chair – ARM, in care of ASA Headquarters.

Appraisal Review Experience Requirements

Definitions

Appraisal report review experience is difficult to define, especially for those who review reports less than 100% of the time. These definitions may be helpful:

- Value—The monetary worth of something
- Valuation or Appraisal—The act or process of estimating the value of property
- Appraiser—One who appraises
- Determine—To come to a decision resulting from an investigation, research, reasoning, etc.

Full-Time-Equivalent Experience

Appraisal experience is experience in the act or process of estimating value. ASA requires two (2) years of such experience on a full-time basis to achieve the AM designation and five (5) years to achieve the Accredited Senior Appraiser (ASA) designation. Therefore, an appraiser can fulfill the experience requirement for the AM designation in two (2) years and an ASA designation in five (5) years, provided he or she appraises full time. If the Candidate appraises 50% of the time in the course of his/her work, the full-time experience requirement would be fulfilled in four (4) years for the AM and ten (10) years for the ASA. ASA's ARM Committee provides for one (1) year of experience credit to Candidates who have passed all four (4) POV courses (AR201-AR204). This qualification also covers the Appraisal Foundation's Appraisal Qualification Board (AQB) education requirement.

Collateral Experience

Collateral experience, by ASA definition, is not appraisal experience for purposes of meeting the two-year and five-year minimum experience requirements. Evaluation of comparable sales or determination of authenticity is frequently a necessity for the determination of value. When the purpose of that work is to determine value, it is part of appraisal experience. When it's not, the work is considered collateral experience. The determination of problems in a business, auditing the books of a corporation, authenticating an art object or determining its provenance may or may not be appraisal work. By themselves (i.e., not as a part of an appraisal/valuation assignment) these functions are not classified by ASA as appraisal experience. As noted in ASA's Code of Ethics, appraisal is the determination of value. Although collateral experience is extremely important to a professional, it does not qualify as full-time-equivalent appraisal experience and will not be credited as such by ASA.

The following are examples of collateral experience that are not considered appraisal experience by ASA:

- A fine art appraiser's experience in art restoration or the sale of estate items.
- A financial analyst's experience in determining whether an asset meets specified investment requirements.
- A lawyer's experience acting as a mediator on valuation issues.
- Time spent attending auctions.

Understanding the Appraisal Experience Requirement

When a Candidate fills out ASA's accreditation application, he or she should supply sufficient information to enable the International Board of Examiners to determine whether the Candidate meets ASA's experience requirements. It is the obligation of the Candidate to portray the actual, provable experience sufficiently well to allow examiners to quantify that experience in terms of months and years of full-time or full-time-equivalent experience. It should be noted that appraisal experience is specific, not generic. The experience must be relevant to the Appraisal Review and Management discipline.

Appraisal Review Reports

Appraisal Reports

Appraisal review reports represent an important component of the accreditation process. Reports that are prepared by a Candidate for a client demonstrate the quality and professionalism offered by the Candidate to the public. Such reports assist the Board of Examiners in evaluating the scope of practice, ethical attitude and levels of education and appraisal competence achieved by the Candidate.

Appraisal review reports must conform to the Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice (USPAP) and to the Principles of Appraisal Practice and Code of Ethics and discipline-specific standards adopted by ASA.

What is Required in an Appraisal Report?

The following sources outline the requirements of an appraisal review report for Advancement:

- Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice (USPAP)
- ASA's Principles of Appraisal Practice and Code of Ethics, Sections 6.2 and 8

Candidates should keep in mind the intent of these standards. For example, Section 6.2 of ASA's Principles of Appraisal Practice and Code of Ethics states:

The procedure and method for determining the particular value in question is a matter for the appraiser to determine—the appraiser cannot be held responsible for the result unless he or she has a free hand in selecting the process by which that result is to be obtained. However, good appraisal practice requires that the method selected be adequate for the purpose, embrace consideration of all the factors that have a bearing on the value, and be presented in a clear and logical manner.

The conclusions that have a bearing on value must be supported and presented in a clear and logical manner. Failure in this area is the most common weakness in appraisal reports submitted for accreditation purposes. Candidates should read the appraisal reports selected for submission through the eyes of an outsider and ask such questions as:

- Are all relevant standards adhered to?
- Is the report clear and logical?
- Are all statements and conclusions that contribute to value supported by facts shown in the report and explained in detail, including a market model and comparable data used in the analysis?
- Was credit given to the source of the value definitions and are the definitions used consistently throughout the report?
- Is the report understandable?

Submitting Appraisal Review Reports for Review

- Appraisal review reports submitted for accreditation purposes must be actual reports prepared for clients or employers.
- Appraisal review reports submitted for accreditation purposes must be no more than two (2) years old.
- If the Candidate completed the work on the appraisal, but a principal of the firm signed the report, the principal should send a letter with the report indicating that the Candidate did most of the work on the report.
- Client references must be redacted from the appraisal review report unless you have the client's written permission to use the report for accreditation purposes (see the release form on page 8).

Note: The file you upload should be in a format that allows a search tool to be utilized.
