

Charles Rosoff, ASA Election Biography

Charles Rosoff, ASA, MRICS is President of Appraisal Services Associates in New York City, a firm of appraisers of Fine Art, Antiques, Decorative Arts, Residential and Office Contents focusing on providing forensic valuations for IRS filings, dispute resolution and litigation. Active as an appraiser since 1984, Mr. Rosoff was a Legal Issues Columnist for the American Society of Appraisers Personal Property Journal, taught Appraisal Research Methods at New York University, and was an instructor of ASA PP204 The Legal and Regulatory Environment of Appraisal Practice at SUNY Purchase and other ASA education sites. He was Co-Editor of two legal textbooks, Valuation Strategies in Divorce and Valuing Specific Assets in Divorce published by Wolters Kluwer. For two years, he participated in two mock trials at the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, and participated as a speaker in the Port-Mortem and Estate Planning program of ALI-ABA, the Advanced Learning Institute of the American Bar Association. He has also delivered at four international conferences held by the American Society of Appraisers, and was an AQB Certified USPAP Instructor - Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice – Recertified. Mr Rosoff served on the Appraisal Foundation’s Personal Property Resource Panel and was it’s Chair for two years. Furthermore, Mr. Rosoff has testified over 17 times across the United States in Supreme, State and County Courts.

I have had the privilege of being part of ASA for almost 35 years, providing me with a wonderful bird's eye perspective. The Personal Property Committee is at the crossroads according to the current members of its Board. Membership is dwindling, education class size is diminishing in size, participation at conferences is decreasing, and marketing has reduced to fraction of what it used to be. Luckily the current membership of Personal Property is an extraordinary wealth of intellect. Interest in the Art World by Finance and Banking firms is stimulating auction houses, galleries and museums that can provide resources to help turn ASA around. I would increase membership contact with Art History Mas and PhDs and History of Decorative Arts MA and PhDs to stimulate a framework to help update publications, create marketing materials, and update education materials. Auction House, Gallery and Museum staffs can also provide a strong source for Membership, Education, Conference programs and Publications. Joint programming with the Appraisers Association of America and the International Society of Appraisers can also provide similar resources.
