While all other sectors of aviation have had a very hard time of it in the pandemic era, two segments, cargo aircraft and VIP aircraft had fantastic markets from late-2020 until now. Let's take a look at the latter market and see what such a seller’s market tells us about Fair Market Values. Are these aircraft investments? Or depreciating assets? As arguably some of the most expensive equipment one can buy, aircraft have constantly evolving markets that make the appraiser work hard.
